Women's Day Celebration

Resource Person:

Mrs Pallavi Guha Baruah

Date: 8th March 2015

Time: 10.00 AM to 2.00 PM

Venue: Seminar Hall, Block A, AIMT

Overview of the event:

The main aim of the seminar was to generate awareness about how our identity as women affects our life and work in AIMT.

The program started with introductory speech by Mrs. Sayanika Deka Sarma, Coordinator of the women's cell. This was followed by a short speech by the CAO of AIMT. The principal of AIMT was the next speaker who asked the gathering especially female students and female faculties, to discuss how our identity as women affects our life and work in AIMT.

Abstract of the Topic Presented:

The main programme of the day was addressed by, Mrs Pallavi Guha Baruah, HOD, Dept of Computer Science. In this session, the dignitaries of the panel namely, Dr. Ruparani Sonowal, Ms. Sushmita Lahkar, Mrs Babita Deka also took an initiative with Mrs Pallavi Guha Baruah to discuss how we can diligently deliver our duties and responsibilities. It was also emphasized in the talk that mere the gender can't be a parameter to affect our life and work style. Moreover, it was mentioned that in AIMT it has been noticed that ratio of female employees to male employees ratio is quite high which always give us a befitting motivation that women are getting equal privilege to work and excel. Overall the programme was very informative and vibrant.

Conclusion:

The programme was very informative and it was highly interactive. All the students and the faculty members were appreciative of the college's initiative in creating the women's cell in the institute.

List of students who participated in this workshop:

In all 150 students from various departments of AIMT took part in this interactive program.
